QUARTER CENTURY CLUB

The UBC Quarter Century Club was established in 1996 by President David Strangway to recognize active full-time faculty members and librarians with 25 years of service. The first members of the Club were those faculty still active at UBC prior to the Club's establishment in the fall of 1996. Faculty members who had retired prior to fall 1996 were not considered to be eligible.

In 2003, the Club began recognizing active members who have reached the additional milestone of 35 years of service. This group is known collectively as Tempus Fugit, or "time flies."

Over the years, the annual event has become a wonderful opportunity for new, active and retired members to keep in touch with each other and the university in a warm, celebratory environment.

QUARTER CENTURY CLUB COMMITTEE

The Quarter Century Club committee is made up of a group of dedicated faculty members, most of whom are Quarter Century Club members themselves, who gather throughout the year to review eligibility criteria and plan the annual event. Each year a new president is selected by the committee. The committee, together with Human Resources and Ceremonies & Events, have made the celebration of UBC faculty a priority as they recognize the significance of these milestones.
